WAR ON THE WATER

Reed's Lake Steamboat Mariner Fighting Again.

COLLISION BETWEEN BOATS

McCarthy says Poisson is responsible for the collision. Poisson mys McCarthy is an Irish exaggerator. McCarthy claims the A. B. Watson ran the Belkung aground. Poisson mys McCarthy has fits, and isn't responsible for what he says. Poisson declares that the Belkung semashed into the A. B. Watson amidships. McCarthy says Poisson is a wild-brained. Frenchman, who has sween to sink the Belkunap at any cost and strew its shattered fragments twice and a half around the lake.

McCarthy Evalutes.

McCarthy Explains.

"It was like this," said Captain McCarthy last night. "I started out with the fielkuap for Manhattan beach. Eight away afterwards Pwasong pulls out with the Watson. He can run faster than I can but be ain't no business cratting on the shore side of me. ser than I can but he ain't no busiser than I can but he ain't no busiser than go the shore side of me.
vernment rules say so. What does rassing do but try to beat me to the inhattan dock. To do this he'd have cut across our bows, but he don't do at. He senashes into us near the ow and breaks a stanchion and shatis the rail. Then his boat rebounds dhits us again. Then he cuts across r bows and got to the dock ahead of
Then as we pulled up to the our bows and got to the dock shead of us. Then as we pulled up to the deck he hits us amidships and and scares the passengers half to death. They jumped from one boat to the other and there was a regular panic. Finally we got away from him, but the boat was considerably damaged. I had no way of getting away from Pwasong when he first struck me. We were as far out into the lake as we could get without running aground on a bar. He seemed to be trying to ground us and then stave us in. Evrybody says he was to blame. They ask me to have him arrested, but, I've had him arrested so often that I'm ashaned to get out another warrant for him. He don't seem to have no sense, and wants all the lake himself. He's bound to smash my boat if he can."

Poisson Tells His Story. Captain Poisson tells a slightly different story. Here it is: "McCarthy him est on tam grose. He est cruzy. Him est on tam geose. He est cruzy. Him hat fits. Sacrol He he two, tree twentyhaf fits. Sacrel He he two, tree twentyfite times in court on ez oath. I draw seven feet of water. He draw twentytwo inches. I keep near shore; zen I don't run into ze sand bar. El McCarthy say I run into him, he haf fits.
Mon Dieu! He try to chase me into ze shore. Ven I see I'm going to ground
we swing ze boat into ze lake to escape
McCarthy. Ze fielknap runs us down McCarthy. Ze Beiknap runs us down in he middle and knocks away ze paint. Zat's it. At he dock he push my boat into he middle of he lake. Bineby a man grais McCarthy's next and say he punch ex head of he don step. He stop tam quick, too McCarthy know of I run on he starboard side I get on he sand bar. He run me into he shore of he can. McCarthy extra archive. He act has ha fits, and don't know nothing. He danuare my other Irish. He act has he damage my other know nothing. He damage my other boat $700, and would sink ze Florence et I run her. He can't sink ze Watsong or

The crew of the Watson corroborate Poisson's story, and the crew of the Belkinsp certify that McCarthy's tale is the right one. Both have been carrying on a warfare for years, and neither ever masses an opportunity to bump into the other. The water is about twenty-five for other than the county-five terminants. feet deep where the collision took place, and had the prow of the Watson struck the Belknap fully, or vice versa, as the case might be, a hole would have been driven into the steamer's side, and the boat been succ. With 35 or 100 passengers on heard there is a chance for a wholesale drowning.

Reautiful teeth are a luxury few possess.
We have heard people say they would give recrything they had for such beautiful teeth as so and so had.

The true secret is not so much in the perfectness of the teeth as in the snow like whiteness and the brilliant polish.

All teeth are capable of this with proper care. Washes and pastes should be avoided as they are injurious as are also many of the powders. A properly prepared powder, however, is the only right and perfect thing to cleanse and proceeded the teeth. This we have succeeded in producing after much labor land exponse. The formula is by one of the most noted dentists of of this country and is absolutely perfect.
